

Certification Management, Simplified. Engage and Train Beyond the Enterprise!

Pushing training initiatives out to an external audience using an LMS streamlines costs while increasing sales and customer satisfaction. ePath's Learning Management Technology makes it possible for you to not only train, engage and certify learners, but also to address the unique needs of multiple audiences and groups, such as customer, partners or your sales channel, using a centralized learning platform.

A Complete Solution for Defining and Managing Certification Programs

Our Learning Management Technology offers a complete solution for certification management. You can easily establish certification learning paths, develop courses and monitor individual requirements. ePath's LMS technology tracks attendance, course completions, test scores, and even generates reports that provide an instant overview of pending and completed certifications.

Your Certification Programs, Your Unique Set of Rules

Our LMS technology lets you customize your certification programs based on your needs and can accommodate even the most sophisticated certification requirements. You can flexibly schedule prerequisites, optional and mandatory courses or support materials. Furthermore, you can provide each unique user group with a branded gateway to their own unique set of courses and materials. Tailoring your content improves engagement and ultimately, learning outcomes!

Blended Content Support

Our powerful authoring tool lets your team create engaging eLearning courses. Existing PowerPoint presentations can be converted quickly into eLearning courses or you can use the authoring tool to develop content from scratch. Self-checks, quizzes, tests and assessments are easily configured to meet your stringent certification requirements. Our LMS technology includes a document and media library where SCORM or AICC compliant courses, third party course materials, reference materials, videos, and other multimedia can be uploaded and stored for easy distribution.

In today's competitive environment, training programs shouldn't stop with your internal workforce. Our Learning Management Technology enables you to reach multiple audiences through the same platform, to give them a customized and engaging certification experience!

ePath Learning is the ideal partner for organizations seeking a comprehensive online certification management solution.

Our cloud-based learning management technology helps you securely manage your certification initiatives from start to finish. Our technology is backed by unparalleled customer support services!
