ePath Learning Named by the Connecticut Technology Council as an Award Winner in the 2012 Marcum Tech Top 40

September 10, 2012 — ePath Learning, Inc., a leader in cloud-based learning services, has been named to the Marcum Tech Top 40, an annual compilation of the 40 fastest growing technology companies in Connecticut. Selection was based on the percentage revenue growth over four years from 2008–2011.

Dudley Molina, CEO and President, ePath Learning, credits the value of corporate learning services with the company's 67% percent revenue growth from 2008–2011. Molina said, “As the economy continues to cause businesses to tighten their belts, those same businesses are recognizing the value in training and retaining their best talent. Engaged and knowledgeable employees lead to increased customer satisfaction and productivity gains. A result most businesses are struggling to improve on today. Our corporate learning services help businesses meet their training needs in the most efficient and affordable manner.”

ePath Learning’s growth is attributed to its cloud-based learning management system, ASAP, which has experienced a significant increase in users over the past few years. ASAP provides businesses with an easy affordable technology that addresses their training needs by creating their own branded online corporate university. The cloud-based model ensures their training is delivered consistently, anywhere, anytime while reducing the cost and time to train.

To qualify for the Marcum Tech Top 40, companies must have had operating revenues of at least $3,000,000, be headquartered in Connecticut, and own proprietary technology or proprietary intellectual property that contributes to a significant portion of the company's operating revenues; or devotes a significant proportion of revenues to the research and development of technology.
