

ePath Learning, Inc. Congratulates Fit Responder on Earning Coveted EMS Product Award

July 25, 2018, New London, CT – ePath Learning Inc., an industry leader in cloud-based learning management technology, today congratulated their client, Fit Responder, a nationally recognized medical training organization, on their most recent award. Fit Responder earned great recognition in the Journal of Emergency Medical Services Hot Products from EMS Today 2018. Their product, Injury Free University was recognized as one of the top 30 innovative yet practical “Hot Products” for EMS providers.

Fit Responder, headquartered in Davidson, North Carolina, is a medical training organization dedicated to sharing best practices in soft tissue injury prevention, ergonomics, biomechanics, fitness, and nutrition that contribute to the development of holistic employee wellness programs. Injury Free University is a blended learning system that incorporates the best of online training with hands on technique mastery. Injury Free University helps organizations overcome the challenge of properly training new and existing employees by using Fit Responder’s validated safety training system. Fit Responder delivers the online training portion of their Injury Free University using ePath Learning’s ASAP LMS technology. Integrating the online training using ASAP enables Fit Responder to deliver consistent messaging, provides flexibility in both time and place for learning, and provides a cost effective opportunity for organizations to help their employee base master critical learning objectives in injury prevention.

“We are honored to have Injury Free University named as a “Hot Product” for fire-ems from EMS Today 2018,” stated Bryan Fass, Founder and President, Fit Responder. We’ve worked hard to develop a program that effectively meets the needs of multigenerational learners using LMS technology and hands-on learning.”

“This is a tremendous, prestigious honor for the team at Fit Responder, and it places their program at the very top of their field nationally,” said Donna Lord, Vice President, Marketing and Product Management, ePath Learning, Inc. “We’re thrilled to congratulate Bryan Fass and the Fit Responder team on this great achievement and wish them continued success in the future.”
